On The Winning T.E.A.M.- Team Interpreting

Presenter: Noah Butler III

August 28, 2010 ~ 9 am to 4:00 pm

Workshop Description

The “On the Winning T.E.A.M.” workshop consists of lecture, role-play, and group discussions. The workshop will highlight different perspectives on TEAM Interpreting. The lecture portion will be supported by RID’s Standard Practice Paper, Biblical principles and scriptural references. The activities introduced during group discussion will create a forum for problem-resolution. In turn, the workshop will heighten interpreters and team members understanding of working together in various settings and expound upon the importance of understanding one’s role. This workshop also consists of a review and questions and answers segment.

Upon completion of workshop, participants will be able to perform “Pre,” “During,” and “Post” conferencing with teammates. Participants will be able to identify clients (hearing and deaf) and provide services that will benefit all parties involved in a variety of interpreting settings. Interpreters will be able to perform problem-resolution strategies when confronted with issues arising from untrained interpreters or clients. This workshop will be presented in spoken English.
